

Urgent Problem
Of Radio Network
Is Before Chiefs

The pressing problem of lack in a police radio system in Lower Bucks County was the center of discussion of the Bucks County Police Chiefs' Association last night at their meeting in the Buck Hotel, Feasterville.

Chief Howard C. Shook, chairman of the radio committee, said the association is behind the establishment of a police radio system "100 per cent."

"The biggest stumbling block in our efforts to begin a police radio system here is the financial angle," Chief Shook said. "However, we expect to have a complete report very soon on the actual cost and operation of this much-needed system."

Study Cost Per Car
"Our next big job will concern the actual cost per patrol car that each municipality will have to pay to support it."

Chief Shook said that most of the work will be taken care of at a special meeting scheduled Thursday night in the Middletown township building.

Serving on the investigating committee with Chief Shook are Middletown township Supervisors Raymond H. Secules and J. Russell Newbold. The fourth member of the committee is George Sottung, Bristol township commissioner.

Communities Represented
A representative from each township and borough of Lower Bucks County will be present.

Chief Robert W. Watson, of Lower Makefield township police, asked an investigation of the present system for examining motorists suspected of driving while intoxicated.

Chief Watson said it was often difficult to locate a local doctor to test a driver suspected of driving while intoxicated.

Watson suggested that the association study the possibility of legislation that would allow a court to accept a doctor's certificate as evidence. This would eliminate the necessity of the physician appearing in person.

Proposal Backed
The proposal was backed by Chiefs Raymond S. Hoagland, of Yardley; John S. Davis, of Morrisville, and Franklin Kirby, of Falls township.

The proposal was forwarded to the executive committee for further study. It was hinted that District Attorney Donald A. VanArtsdalen would be called in for advice.

Andalusia Celery
Takes 10 Prizes
In Farm Showing

See "Attendance Rises" P. 10
HARRISBURG — Celery grown on Shady Brook Farm, Route 13 west of Gravel pike, Andalusia won Edward J. Fleming, his wife, Marian and sons Edward, Jr., 22, and David, 12, 10 prizes in the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

The Flemings carried away all celery awards in an exhibit contest sponsored by the Future Farmers of America.

Edward, Jr., won first place for yellow celery, with his mother second, his brother, David, third and Edward, Sr. fourth. The father won first prize for easy blanching celery, followed by Edward, Jr., Mrs. Fleming and David. For pascal celery, Edward, Sr., was first and Edward, Jr., second, to cop the only prizes.

Small Part
The prize-winning celery was a small part of the crop harvested last fall on the Flemings' eight-acre patch. They market their product on Dock street, Philadelphia.

Former residents of 234 Walnut street, Bristol, the Flemings commuted to the farm until moving to a house on Route 13 a dozen years ago. Mrs. Fleming works in Bristol, as principal of Bath Street School.

Edward, Jr., a former 4-H Club member, was graduated from the National Agricultural College, Doylstown, last May. David attends Penn. Res. School. Edward, Sr., at present attending the farm show, is completing a term as president of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association.

Schools Win, Too
Two Bucks County high schools won awards for exhibits. A fourth place award of $45 went to Deep Run Valley Joint High School, for the theme: "Look What Grass Can Do." For a display entitled "Satisfy the Appetite of Corn." Central

The Trenton Philadelphia Coach Co. will increase its bus service in Fairless Hills on Jan. 25, according to Joseph Feldman, manager of the company.

Feldman made the announcement of increased service last night at a meeting of the Fairless Hills Civic at the Community Center.

He told the group that on that date the bus company will run a total of six trips into the community as an extension of its current Trenton-Philadelphia trips. Feldman said the company will make three trips in each direction, at times yet to be announced.

Permanent Route
The permanent route for the buses will be Oxford Valley road, Trenton road and Olds boulevard. At the present time the buses will use Austin drive instead of Trenton road, as the latter road is under construction.

Feldman said he will be able to announce a definite schedule for the six trips within a few days.

The company was granted permanent rights in Fairless Hills on Dec. 1. The Public Utilities Commission also gave the firm a franchise for the establishment of bus service connecting U. S. Routes 1 and 13.

Supervisor Guest
Falls Township Supervisor John Custer was also a guest at the meeting of the association and answered questions directed by the members.

In answer to a question about why Fairless Hills does not have trash collection provided by the township, Custer explained that under the rules of a second class township, if it were provided in one section, it must be provided throughout the township. The code also requires that bills for trash collection be issued separately.

Custer pointed out that the water conditions are under the control of the Water Authority and not the supervisors. He told the association members that in the future there will be a minimum of four Fairless Hills residents on the authority, instead of the two that are now on the board.

Ask Study of Rates
The fact-finding committee reported that the supervisors have written to the Pennsylvania Economy League, asking them to study water rates in the area. As yet,

Protest Dropped
Over Last Place
By String Band

Mummer's Award
List Will Stand,
Weller Informed

A formal protest over the disqualification of the Bucks County String Band in the Philadelphia Mummers' Parade on New Year's Day has been dropped. It was announced today by Frank Weller, band captain.

Weller said he had telephoned Recreation Commissioner Frederick R. Mann, parade grand marshal, to request information on the committee's action on the protest. He was told that the committee would make no change in its original decision and added that the prize list would not be changed.

Too Much Time
The band was disqualified by the judges because it took five minutes and eight seconds for drill in front of the judges' stand instead of the allotted four minutes.

Weller charged that the band was not warned that time was running out. He asserted that other bands were warned a minute before the marching period was completed.

In his statement, Weller, Mann added that the confusion of the present method of warning the band captain when time has elapsed has led to a suggestion for a new system. He said that a large six-foot clock will be placed at the judges' stand at the next Mummers' Parade.

Captain Responsible
When the band presents itself for judging the clock will be started and the band captain will be responsible to keep within the four-minute mark, Mann stated.

In summing up the decision of the parade committee, Weller said, "Well, it's just like the old expression, 'You can't beat city hall.'"

Neibauer, Union Confer
In Effort To Save Firm

You Don't Scare Us

Meeting Is Held
To Talk Details
Of Union's Offer

Representatives of Local 252, CIO Transport Workers Union bus drivers were in a second conference this morning with Neibauer Bus Company officials to iron out details of a worker's offer to help solve the firm's financial troubles.

Yesterday 34 employees offered to work for the firm without wages for one week in an effort to improve the firm's position. This would represent a savings in excess of $3,000 to the firm.

James J. Gallagher, president of the TWU local, said an attempt would also be made to work out some long-range plans.

Losing Money
General Manager Edward W. Neibauer had announced that the firm has been losing money the past five years and that only "drastic measures" can save the company.

Neibauer added that if the firm could hang on until May 30 the summer "rush" for chartered buses might stave off a complete collapse of operations.

The Levittown franchise which the Neibauer firm received from the Public Utility Commission on a temporary basis last fall proved a "financial disappointment," according to Neibauer.

The firm suffered a setback of more than $2,500 in that venture. The company recently cut service in Levittown by about 15 percent when it discontinued Sunday and holiday routes. The general manager said that a request is pending before the PUC to operate on the Levittown Parkway, at the same time dropping one bus from the community's routes.

Could Save Cash
He said he felt enough could be saved this way to make the Levittown operation "pay for itself."

"If this is done successfully," Neibauer said, "we may be able to hang on. If not, only time will tell. But at the present rate we are losing too much money to continue in business."

The bus company has been operating in Lower Bucks County since 1935 and has been operating in the red since 1949.

Lands Drivers
Frank F. Flach, president of the Bucks County CIO Industrial Council, lauded the bus drivers for their efforts in trying to find a solution for the firm's financial straits. He said they have the complete backing of the Council.

Flach also called on other community and civic organizations to rally in efforts to bolster the Neibauer firm "so the people of lower Bucks County may have the bus facilities they need."

The bus drivers plan to contact PUC officials and Congressional representatives in an effort to work out some emergency solution, Gallagher said.

French Will Tour
South America;
View CARE Work

Paul Comly French, of Yardley, executive director of CARE, will leave this week for a two-week tour of Central and South America, where he will inspect CARE work.

He will be guest of the Haitian government during the celebration of the 15th anniversary of Haitian independence. He will visit Columbia, Bolivia, Panama and Peru, where he will meet with government officials and United States representatives.

CARE is handling a milk school program using American farm supplies in each of the countries that French will visit.

Numbering Plan
For Fallsington To Go To Supervisors

A detailed plan for the numbering of houses in Fallsington should be in the hands of Falls Township Supervisors within six weeks.

W. F. Bachman of Fallsington, co-chairman of a Falls Township Civic Association committee appointed to the numbering task, said a plan should be ready by then.

Numbers will radiate from the monument in the community and will be based on property footage, Bachman said. Tax office records will be consulted.

Numbering plans have been made at the request of Falls Township Supervisors as an aid to the Falls Township Authority.

Co-chairman with Bachman is Joseph Winder. Other members of the committee are Police Chief Franklin Kirby and Frank Craven.

N. J. BOARD PROPOSED FOR CONTROL OF BINGO

TRENTON, N. J. (INS)—Legalized number playing became the number one problem of the New Jersey Legislature today after the assemblymen organized to start the lawmaking machinery for 1954.

Creation of a nine-member, non-salaried commission to enforce laws licensing bingo and raffles was provided in a bill introduced.

Two More Picked
In Korean Drive

Hulmeville And Yardley Enlisted

Two more area chairmen for the Lower Bucks County Korean clothing and food drive have been named by Arthur Pilla, general chairman.

Yardley's representative will be Martin Hayes, 69 South Main street, and the depot for the community will be the Yardley Community House. Hayes can be contacted at Yardley 2796.

George Bilger, chief of the Hulmeville Volunteer Fire Company has been named chairman for his area. The collection center will be the fire house. Bilger's phone is Hulmeville 6611.

"Appreciate Effort"
"We certainly appreciate the time and effort the individual chairmen are contributing to make this drive a success," Pilla said.

He said that each chairman is contacting local groups for assistance in organizing the campaign, which got under way Monday.

The drive is in response to a plea by Capt. John J. Cole, of Bristol, now stationed in Korea, for any and all usable clothing, and any and all non-perishable food to aid the people of that war-torn land.

Offer Army Trucks
The Frankford Arsenal, which will transport the goods to Korea, offered today to send Army trucks—as many as are needed—to transport the donated goods at the end of the drive from Tommy's in Harriman, the central storage place, to their ships. In connection with this offer, Pilla has requested that all donations be packed in cartons by their donor, ready for shipping to Korea.

George Wetherill, director of the Lower Bucks Scouts, reports that plans have been completed for the door-to-door canvass of the area by Boy Scouts on Saturday, Jan. 23.

Other Chairmen
Other chairmen of the drive, sponsored by the Bristol and Lower Bucks County Chamber of Commerce, are Carmen Ruggero, Southampton; Mrs. Stephen M. Vandegrift, Newtown; John Silvi, Tullytown; John Kreuger, Fallsington; Elwyn C. Smith, Fergusonville; William Levinson, Morrisville; Robert Rothenback, Pennell; Frank W. Slowick, Crofton, and William States, Bensalem.

Kiwanis Club to Back
Summer Youth Project

The Kiwanis Club of Bucks County Lincoln Highway will work with the Lower Bucks County YMCA to set up a summer program for young people this year.

This announcement was made at last night's meeting of the club at Flannery's Restaurant, Pennell.

George A. Goodboy, chairman of the committee on boys and girls work, will be in charge of the project. Under his direction, the committee will study the needs of the area and the work of the YMCA before setting up a definite program.

O. E. Norbeck, associate secretary general of the Lower Bucks County YMCA, spoke to the group. He described the present facilities and plans for a million and a half dollar building in Lower Bucks County.

Norbeck stressed the importance of thinking in terms of parental delinquency rather than juvenile delinquency. He told the Kiwanians that, in almost every group he has ever investigated, it has been the parent that was at fault.

John A. A. Crowley, chairman of the public and business affairs committee, will attend tomorrow night's meeting at Middletown township building, where final plans for the central police radio will be discussed.

Postpone Meeting
On Refuse Disposal

The refuse disposal committee meeting slated last night in the Langhorne Municipal Building was postponed. Only eight representatives of the 18 municipalities included in the study appeared.

Poor driving conditions were blamed for the small turnout.

Franklin C. Wood, of the Bucks County Planning Commission, said another meeting would be held on Feb. 9 in Langhorne. Before the group disbanded, it was agreed that each township and borough governing body would be sent a letter asking for a representative to attend the meeting. From this group a smaller committee of five to seven men will be selected to make a detailed study, Wood said.

ORE SHIP AGROUND
An ore ship reported to be the Sun Kirk ran aground about noon today not far from Burlington, N. J.

The vessel edged to the right of the channel to let a downstream group of sand barges pass when it stuck fast, according to Joseph McCloskey of Burlington.

Farmers National
Elects '54 Officers;
Spring Is President

The shareholders of the Farmers National Bank held their annual meeting this morning for the election of directors. More than 80 per cent of the outstanding stock was represented.

Elected to serve as directors for the year were Senator Joseph R. Grundy, Louis C. Spring, Jacob C. Schmidt, Clarence W. Winter, Lester B. Shoemaker, Edward L. Helwig, Edgar J. Spencer, John C. Johnson, Thomas R. Jones, Sheridan B. Metz and Charles Wildman.

Following the shareholders' meeting, the organization meeting of the directors was held and the following officers were elected: Senator Grundy, chairman of the board; Spring, president; Schmidt, vice-president; Johnson, cashier and trust officer; Harold F. Hunter, assistant cashier and assistant trust officer; Ralph Ratcliffe, assistant cashier, and John Catzin, assistant cashier.

Because of the pressure of business, Elmer B. VanSant was unable to accept nomination as a director. Charles Wildman, of Langhorne, was the new director elected. Wildman, who has previous banking experience, is now with Boenning and Company, Philadelphia investment bankers.

Spring, the president and spokesman for the bank, said total assets are now more than $22,300,000 as against $18,000,000 a year ago. The year-end statement, he said, shows the bank to be the largest and fastest growing bank in Bucks County without benefit of merger.

'Hills' Man Is Hurt
In Route 1 Crash

Eugene Messaros, 39, of 206 Walton road Fairless Hills, suffered cuts of the scalp at 7:45 p. m. yesterday when his automobile sideswiped a trailer truck on Route 1 at Snipe's Corner, Falls Twp.

He was taken to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, by a passing motorist. Driver of the truck was Yarnall Shantz, 38, of 2334 Sydenham street, Philadelphia, Falls Township Patrolman Lyle Gass reported. Messaros and Yarnall will be let off for reckless driving.

Mercury Is Due To Rise Thursday

It was cold in Lower Bucks county last night and this morning and frigid temperatures are going to continue, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau at Trenton.

While digging out from a snowfall averaging more than eight inches, the area suffered another blow when the mercury dipped to 10 last night.

It will be fair and cold today and tonight, with temperatures of 25 or 26 degrees this afternoon and 8 to 10 tonight. Tomorrow will bring increasing cloudiness and more moderate temperatures. The mercury will be about 30 tomorrow afternoon.

But don't worry about that cloudiness tomorrow, the bureau says. There is no snow indicated for the area on weather maps.

Morrisville Post
Goes To Steward

Gets Secretary's
Job For 2 Years

The post of water rent collector was eliminated in Morrisville last night at a regular meeting of the borough council.

Councilmen indicated that the action would save $1000 a year for the borough.

Water rent bills will be made payable to Borough Secretary Robert Steward at the municipal building.

The post of water rent collector was held by Harry Christ, newly elected Justice of the Peace.

Tentative Budget Due
A tentative budget will be presented to a special meeting of council scheduled Jan. 26 in the Municipal building, it was announced by Secretary Steward.

Robert Steward was appointed by the borough council as secretary for the next two years.

Steward, 35-year-old Trenton post office clerk, will succeed William H. Howell, who died last summer.

$5800 a Year
Steward, who has been acting secretary for several months while members of Council were interviewing and examining applicants for the post, will receive $5800 a year, plus $10 a month car allowance.

Dr. Ralph Fox was appointed a member of the Zoning Board of Adjustment for three years; Councilman James E. Magee was named borough representative to the Bucks County Borough Association.

A report on the 30-day test period involving the removal of parking meters on Market street will be presented at the February meeting.

Directors To Study
Questionnaire On Vocational School

The joint vocational school committee of Lower Bucks County school directors will discuss results of a recent pupil interest questionnaire at 8 p. m. tomorrow at a meeting in Delhaas High School.

The questionnaire, prepared by State Department of Education authorities, asked pupils their preferences in vocational subjects proposed for the school, according to Howard C. Taylor, committee chairman. Parents were directed to study the questions with their children.

Active in plans for the trade school are school board representatives from Delhaas, Pennsbury, Bensalem, Morrisville and Centennial Districts.

Although the recent expiration of state-aid funds made it apparent that construction of the vocational school would not be feasible, Taylor announced that his committee "will continue to make plans so that we will be ready to build when the aid comes through again."

ASK TRENTON AIR SERVICE

TRENTON, N. J. (INS)—New Jersey aviation officials will petition the Civil Aeronautics Board to take steps to approve a scheduled air carrier to serve Mercer county and the city of Trenton.

Back To School
For Area's Kids

It was "back to school" today for all Lower Bucks County school children except pupils of Tullytown Borough schools.

All area schools held sessions today, except for the Tullytown school, which was suffering from "boiler trouble," according to John S. Linscott, supervisor. But Tullytown children will be back in school tomorrow, he said.

School districts opening today, after a two-day vacation precipitated by an eight-inch snow storm, were Neshaminy schools, Bristol Township and Pennsbury. Bristol Borough schools opened yesterday, and so did Council Rock and Bensalem schools.

The hardest school district of all was Morrisville Borough schools—they were open all week.

Question Is Raised
Over Teacher Jobs
In Maintenance

Should teachers work after class as janitors?

This was the question raised today by a Bristol Township school director, who suggested that the board seek the teachers' own views.

Mrs. Ellen Sarnar, of 21 Gate lane, Levittown, newly inducted as a board member, said janitorial and maintenance work may undermine the morale and dignity of the teachers and cause them to lose the respect of their pupils.

"After all," Mrs. Sarnar said, "teaching is supposed to be a profession, and the community should treat it as such."

Not Teachers' Work
Janitorial and maintenance jobs, she said, are not degrading, but are "simply not a teacher's work."

Mrs. Sarnar is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania School of Education.

After-hours janitorial work was offered teachers, Mrs. Sarnar said, because of a shortage of maintenance workers. Only a small percentage of the township's 200 teachers.

'REALISTIC STATEMENT'

Rep. King Foresees Free Market
Under Eisenhower Farm Program

"The President's farm program message is a realistic statement of the bad situation which has developed under the high support price policy," Congressman Karl C. King (R., Pa.) said today in a discussion of President Eisenhower's farm program message.

According to King, President Eisenhower's proposals will provide a gradual transition to a support base that will permit a free market to influence production value.

"The request for an increase in borrowing authority of the Commodity Credit Corporation will not be popular," King observed, "but it cannot be avoided. It is the logical consequence of past legislation committing the government to pay a high price for the basic commodities under support until the end of 1954."

"The threat to other crops from acreage diverted from the controlled crops is highlighted in the statement," King said, "but I see no adequate proposal for meeting this threat. The suggestion that agriculture conservation payments might be used to help farmers put diverted acreage into soil-building crops is piling one subsidy on another."

Congressman King believes that acreage restricted from growing wheat, corn or cotton should be forced entirely out of production, with no federal aid in carrying it. "Anything less than this will prove a disaster for all those producers who have continued to operate in a free market," he said.

Neshaminy Board Okays Cost Plan Assessment Set On Pupil Basis

Neshaminy Joint School Board last night expressed approval of a cost-sharing formula.

Component boards will be assessed for the proposed junior high school in proportion to the pupils they send as well as the state-set market value of properties in their districts, it was announced.

With Edward Linford, of Hulmeville, chairman of the Joint Board contract committee, presiding, 20 of the 30 school directors attended with Regional Superintendent Dr. Oliver Hecman and his administrative staff.

Haag and d'Entremont, Jenkintown architects who designed the new Junior-Senior High School, are making preliminary plans for the junior high, to be erected east of the present high school on Old Lincoln Highway. The board hopes to start construction of the new school next summer. It will be in use in September, 1955. Forty-six rooms are planned which will accommodate 1000 students.

The addition of pupil enrollment in the formula is a modification of the joint financial arrangements for the present Junior-Senior High, in which only the school districts' property markets are considered.

Role of Democrats In State Praised In Mitchell Talk

WASHINGTON, Pa., (INS) — Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell told Washington County Democrats Tuesday night that Pennsylvania is one of the strongest Democratic states in the "whole northeast" and a banner state in party plans for 1954.

He also attacked the Eisenhower administration for what he called four cases "of ballyhoo" to every one of fact and added:

"The Republicans say they want to prevent a boom-and-bust economy. They have gone halfway. They have prevented the boom. Now we will see if they can prevent the bust."

Mitchell has been visiting Pennsylvania in a fund-raising tour along with Stanley Woodward, the party's national treasurer.

Senators Urged To Fight Seaway

HARRISBURG (INS) — Pennsylvania's two United States Senators were urged today by the State Chamber of Commerce to oppose American participation in the St. Lawrence seaway project.

Senators Edward Martin and James H. Duff were told by the chamber that "major segments of Pennsylvania industry and labor" opposed the project in a 1951 meeting called by Gov. John S. Fine.

The chamber said the project poses "a threat to coal, farming, transportation and other industries in Pennsylvania" and said use of public funds "cannot be justified in terms of benefits to the United States."

ers had accepted such jobs, she said. They took the work for the extra pay in most cases, she said.

"Answer Lies In Money"

"No doubt the whole answer lies in money," Mrs. Sarnar said.

"Adequately paid teachers would not need to look for other work."

The subject of teachers' salaries is expected to be discussed at a meeting of the board before the 1954 budget is drafted. The township school directors, reported in favor of faculty pay increases, face the prospect of many more Levittown houses in the district, bringing an influx of hundreds of more pupils.

Looking It Over

BANK BELL SOUNDS; IT'S FALSE ALARM

Falls Township police thought they had a bank robbery on their hands when the burglar alarm of the Farmer's National Bank in Fairless Hills rang last night — but all they had was a false alarm.

The ringing of the alarm late Monday night was the result of a short circuit, Patrolman Lawrence Nolan and Robert Gallagher discovered when they arrived, breathless, at the bank.

Bensalem Rotary Hears Farm Talk

Harold W. Laros of Washington Lane, Bensalem Township, discussed agriculture as "America's greatest resource" last night at the Bensalem Township Rotary Club meeting at Kings Hall.

Laros, a new member of the club and advertising manager for the S. L. Allen Company of Philadelphia, pointed up agriculture's contribution to the "American way of life" and its effect on peoples around the world.

Melvin Sargeant, of Gettysburg, a former member of the club, was a guest.

Trevose Fire Co. Installs Officers; Joins Radio Net

Thomas Powell was installed as president of Trevose Fire Company last night at a meeting at the fire station.

Also installed were: Alvin Ridge, vice-president; Edward Malone, financial secretary; John Dean, recording secretary; Thomas Esdale, treasurer; LeRoy VanToor, Jr., chief engineer; Walter G. Roessen, chief; Donald Roberts and Lewis Donaver, assistant chiefs; and Leonard Roberts, trustee for a five-year term.

The company voted to install a two-way radio to be hooked up with the Bucks county network on the Feasterville band. The radio will be ordered in the near future.

A report of calls during 1953 showed a total of 72 fire calls, 34 of which were field fires and four of which were false alarms. The remainder were classified as miscellaneous. Three deaths by fire were reported.

THREE AUTOS DAMAGED IN TULLYTOWN CRASH

Three automobiles were damaged slightly yesterday afternoon in end to end collisions at Main and Pond streets, Tullytown, police reported.

BANK BELL SOUNDS; IT'S FALSE ALARM

Falls Township police thought they had a bank robbery on their hands when the burglar alarm of the Farmer's National Bank in Fairless Hills rang last night — but all they had was a false alarm.

The ringing of the alarm late Monday night was the result of a short circuit, Patrolman Lawrence Nolan and Robert Gallagher discovered when they arrived, breathless, at the bank.

the supervisors have not received an answer to their request.

James Peers, president, reported that the supervisors have inspected Fairless Hills streets and have accepted them, subject to repair. The streets were inspected on Jan. 5, according to Peers, and will be inspected again when the Danheiser Corp. has made repairs.

Fairless Hills residents reported that in some sections the repairs had been started before the snow came.

Robert Campbell reported on the meeting with a representative of the Kellor Construction Co., the firm that is repairing Trenton road.

Campbell described the firm's spokesman as "most co-operative" and told the group that the firm will provide four crosswalks over Trenton road — at Olds boulevard, Queen Anne drive, Lebbie lane and the entrance to the Three Arches.

Where trash collectors cannot get in to collect trash, the Kellor men will move the trash out to where it can be picked up. Campbell said he was told the firm believes it can install storm sewers on the rest of the road without tearing up the center of the highway.

The American Federation of Labor in a recent report urged enactment of legislation designed to protect buyers of homes constructed under the FHA and VA programs against structural defects.

Boris Shiskin, secretary of the AFL housing committee told a sub-committee of the President's Advisory Committee on Housing a builder's warranty against defects should remain in effect for two years.

"The home purchaser ought to be protected against flooded basements, wet walls, defects in mechanical equipment or other defects which may result from poor workmanship or materials," Shiskin told the sub-committee.

The chances of keeping the Westinghouse Electric Corporation jet engine operations in Lester, near Philadelphia, "are good" Philadelphia's Mayor Joseph S. At the same time three unions are making bids for bargaining agent for some 8,500 employees at the Lester plant at the NLRB elections tomorrow. They are the International Association of Machinists, AFL; United Electrical Workers, independent, and the International Union of Electrical Workers, CIO.

tract between the firm and the United Railroad Workers, CIO. The announcement was made jointly in Philadelphia by the firm and the union.

David J. McDonald, president of the CIO United Steelworkers, today in Pittsburgh added his name to the list of labor leaders opposing President Eisenhower's plan for government conducted strike ballots.

McDonald said the proposed amendment to the Taft-Hartley Law is a contradiction of Eisenhower's campaign promise to lessen government interference in labor relations.

Said McDonald: "This recommendation of the president is aimed at discrediting the leaders of a striking union and in effect provides the procedure for decertifying a union during a strike. It would be a powerful weapon on the side of struck employers..."

Top officials of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, AFL, have started closed hearings yesterday at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in Philadelphia into the ouster of Edward P. Crumback as secretary-treasurer of Local 107 at union election last November after 20 years' service. Crumback termed the election illegal.

Army Tightens Rules On Employee Security

WASHINGTON — (INS) — An Army spokesman disclosed today that Secretary Robert T. Stevens has issued a new regulation tightening up security and loyalty procedures on civilian employees.

The spokesman said the new regulations implement the loyalty directive issued by President Eisenhower last April and the subsequent order by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

The new order was issued Dec. 18 but was never made public.

It tightens the earlier list by:

1. Tightening standards and putting new emphasis on personal associations with individuals. The earlier regulation had emphasized associations with subversive organizations.

Nine Items Listed

Listed are nine items which would "raise security implications." Included is the refusal of an employee to testify before a Capitol Hill committee on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

2. Creating, by agreement with the attorney general and other services, unified hearing boards composed of Army, Navy and Air Force representatives. They will not be allowed to take part in a hearing involving employees of their own services.

3. Establishing a single security review board in the office of the Army secretary. The review board will hear no accused employees, but will make their report to the secretary from a study of documents and records.

Fifth Amendment Issue

4. Only permitting hearings on dismissals and charges for permanent jobholders or indefinite-term appointees. Non-citizens, mostly employed overseas, also are excluded from the hearing right, and

Neshaminy Board Okays Cost Plan

Assessment Set On Pupil Basis

Neshaminy Joint School Board last night expressed approval of a cost-sharing formula.

Component boards will be assessed for the proposed junior high school in proportion to the pupils they send as well as the state-set market value of properties in their districts, it was announced.

With Edward Linford, of Hulmeville, chairman of the Joint Board contract committee, presiding, 20 of the 30 school directors attended with Regional Superintendent Dr. Oliver Heeman and his administrative staff.

Haag and d'Entremont, Jenkintown architects who designed the new Junior-Senior High School, are making preliminary plans for the present high school on Old Lincoln Highway. The board hopes to start construction of the new school next summer. It will be in use in September, 1955. Forty-six rooms are planned which will accommodate 1000 students.

The addition of pupil enrollment in the formula is a modification of the joint financial arrangements for the present Junior-Senior High, in which only the school districts' property markets are considered.

Role of Democrats In State Praised In Mitchell Talk

WASHINGTON, Pa. — (INS) — Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell told Washington County Democrats Tuesday night that Pennsylvania is one of the strongest Democratic states in the "whole northeast" and a banner state in party plans for 1954.

He also attacked the Eisenhower administration for what he called four cases "of ballyhoo" to every one of fact and added:

"The Republicans say they want to prevent a boom-and-bust economy. They have prevented the boom. Now we will see if they can prevent the bust."

Mitchell has been visiting Pennsylvania in a fund-raising tour along with Stanley Woodward, the party's national treasurer.

Senators Urged To Fight Seaway

HARRISBURG (INS) — Pennsylvania's two United States Senators were urged today by the State Chamber of Commerce to oppose American participation in the St. Lawrence seaway project.

Senators Edward Martin and James H. Duff were told by the chamber that "major segments of Pennsylvania industry and labor" opposed the project in a 1951 meeting called by Gov. John S. Fine.

The chamber said the project poses "a threat to coal, farming, transportation and other industries in Pennsylvania" and said use of public funds "cannot be justified in terms of benefits to the United States."

"Answer Lies In Money"

"No doubt the whole answer lies in money," Mrs. Sarnar said. "Adequately paid teachers wouldn't need to look for other work."

The subject of teachers' salaries is expected to be discussed at a meeting of the board before the 1954 budget is drafted. The township school directors, reported in favor of faculty pay increases, face the prospect of many more Levittown houses in the district, bringing an influx of hundreds of more pupils.

BANK BELL SOUNDS; IT'S FALSE ALARM

Falls Township police thought they had a bank robbery on their hands when the burglar alarm of the Farmer's National Bank in Fairless Hills clanged out—but all they had was a false alarm.

The ringing of the alarm late Monday night was the result of a short circuit, Patrolmen Lawrence Nolan and Robert Gallagher discovered when they arrived, breathless, at the bank.

the supervisors have not received an answer to their request.

James Peers, president, reported that the supervisors have inspected Fairless Hills streets and have accepted them, subject to repair.

The streets were inspected on Jan. 5, according to Peers, and will be inspected again when the Dannerst Corp. has made repairs.

Fairless Hills residents reported that in some sections the repairs had been started before the snow came.

Robert Campbell reported on the meeting with a representative of the Kellor Construction Co., the firm that is repairing Trenton road.

Campbell described the firm's spokesmen as "most co-operative" and told the group that the firm will provide four crosswalks over Trenton road—at Olds boulevard, Queen Anne drive, Lebbie lane and the entrance to the Three Arches.

Where trash collectors cannot get in to collect trash, the Kellor men will move the trash out to where it can be picked up. Campbell said he was told the firm believes it can install storm sewers on the rest of the road without tearing up the center of the highway.

The American Federation of Labor in a recent report urged enactment of legislation designed to protect buyers of homes constructed under the FHA and VA programs against structural defects.

Boris Shiskin, secretary of the AFL housing committee told a sub-committee of the President's Advisory Committee on Housing a builder's warranty against defects should remain in effect for two years.

"The home purchaser ought to be protected against flooded basements, wet walls, defects in mechanical equipment or other defects which may result from poor workmanship or materials," Shiskin told the sub-committee.

The chances of keeping the Westinghouse Electric Corporation jet engine operations in Lester, near Philadelphia, "are good" Philadelphia's Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr. said yesterday even though the firm announced plans to complete transfer of the facilities to Kansas City, Mo. by the end of the year. Some 2,600 workers in the jet division are involved.

At the same time three unions are making bids for bargaining agent for some 8,500 employees at the Lester plant at the NLRB elections tomorrow. They are the International Association of Machinists, AFL; United Electrical Workers, independent, and the International Union of Electrical Workers, CIO.

Some 36,000 shop craft employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad will receive a five-cent-an-hour wage increase and other benefits in a new contract between the firm and the United Railroad Workers, CIO.

tract between the firm and the United Railroad Workers, CIO. The announcement was made jointly in Philadelphia by the firm and the union.

David J. McDonald, president of the CIO United Steelworkers, today in Pittsburgh added his name to the list of labor leaders opposing President Eisenhower's plan for government conducted strike ballots.

McDonald said the proposed amendment to the Taft-Hartley Law is a contradiction of Eisenhower's campaign promise to lessen government interference in labor relations.

Said McDonald: "This recommendation of the president is aimed at discrediting the leaders of a striking union and in effect provides the procedure for decertifying a union during a strike. It would be a powerful weapon on the side of struck employers..."

Top officials of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, AFL, have started closed hearings yesterday at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in Philadelphia into the ouster of Edward P. Crumback as secretary-treasurer of Local 107 at union election last November after 20 years' service. Crumback termed the election illegal.

Five Philadelphia longshoremen leaders were accused in New York District Court yesterday of extorting $36,200 and "selling out" their membership to settle a strike at the Franklin Sugar Company pier at Philadelphia in 1951.

They are: James T. Moock, 56, of Bailey and Dickinson streets, vice president of the International Longshoremen's Association's Atlantic Coast district; Henry G. Varlack, 38, of 62nd and Arch streets, delegate of Local 1291; Samuel Kavalasukas, 44, of Durfor on Front streets, delegate of Local 1291; Clifford Carter, 55, of Lombard and 15th streets, delegate of Local 1332 and an organizer, and Lawrence agner, 42, of Reed and Front streets, shop steward for Local 1291. Also charged was David B. Roche, 43, of Jersey City, N.J., ILA legislative representative.

Army Tightens Rules On Employee Security

WASHINGTON — (INS) — An Army spokesman disclosed today that Secretary Robert T. Stevens has issued a new regulation tightening up security and loyalty procedure on civilian employees.

The spokesman said the new regulations implement the loyalty directive issued by President Eisenhower last April and the subsequent order by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

The new order was issued Dec. 15 but was never made public.

It tightens the earlier list by:

1. Tightening standards and putting new emphasis on personal associations with individuals. The earlier regulation had emphasized associations with subversive organizations.

Nine Items Listed

Listed are nine items which would "raise security implications." Included is the refusal of an employee to testify before a Capitol Hill committee on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

2. Creating, by agreement with the attorney general and other services, unified hearing boards composed of Army, Navy and Air Force representatives. They will not be allowed to take part in a hearing involving employees of their own services.

3. Establishing a single security review board in the office of the Army secretary. The review board will hear no accused employees, but will make their report to the secretary from a study of documents and records.

Fifth Amendment Issue

4. Only permitting hearings on dismissals and charges for permanent jobholders or indefinite-term appointees. Non-citizens, mostly employed overseas, also are excluded from the hearing right, and

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

I delight to do thy will, O my God; yes, thy law is within my heart.—Ps. 40:8.
There is a glorious harmony in the life that is guided wholly by God's will.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Fulton Lewis, Jr.
(Copyright, 1953,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12—Another baneful chapter in political and economic skulduggery is being written with the outrageous and wholly false depression predictions by partisan economists, obviously intended to embarrass the Eisenhower Administration by frightening the people.

That the nation can be injured by such fakery seems of little concern to these "peddlers of gloom and doom," as President Eisenhower describes them. This small and influential clique provides an aura of respectability to misleading and distorted facts and figures dispensed by politicians seeking a return to the big spending programs of the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations.

Not one in a thousand intellectually honest economists, however, sees a depression ahead, since every careful appraisal of conditions indicates that 1954 will be the second best year, economically, in the history of the United States.

We are in a period of readjustment to the realities of a peacetime economy, which means, simply put, that we must prepare ourselves for a new look at the old virtues. Hard work at the production level and conscientious salesmanship will begin to pay off. The era of laziness and inefficiency on the part of the order-taker will end.

And to those willing to accept this new challenge will come opportunities for rewards little known or appreciated by millions. For fully half the present population is lacking in any adult understanding or experience with a peacetime economy.

It is imperative that the American worker be assured that the overwhelming majority will remain employed in 1954 to enjoy the same standard of living which they have had. This the Administration is seeking to do by emphasizing that the tax cuts which became effective the first of the year, the price reductions in the free and competitive market places, and the increasing quality of merchandise demanded by selective and discriminating consumers, all add up to a continuing prosperity.

The job outlook is good. There will be less overtime and the smart wage earner will nail down a new job before he quits the old one. In some instances, where cutbacks in defense production create a labor surplus, the worker may decide that now is the time to give serious consideration to long-harbored thoughts of moving permanently to a new location where his skill will be more in demand.

The farmer's picture is clearing. The new farm program, as devised by Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, will be found fair and equitable. Domestic and foreign buying will be as good as last year.

For the businessman—small and large—it will be a year of salesmen. The hard-selling, tireless and sincere salesman will come into his own. The old-fashioned drummer, trading shoe-leather for a fatter wallet will be in his glory, and younger men in the sales field will begin to understand what is meant by a "buyers' market."

The facts prove that 1954 should be a good year. The Administration recognizes, however, that we are in a period of re-adjustment and already is preparing moves to protect the basic prosperity of the nation.

The President has promised that "every legitimate means available to the Federal Government that can be used to sustain that prosperity is being used and will continue to be used as necessary."

Everyone was unhappy about inflation and wanted an end to it. The people voted against it in 1952. Yet there should be some preparing of the mind for the interim period between inflation and the stabilizing of the economy. The malcontents must be answered with facts and the nonsense poured out by demagogues must be exposed as hokum.

To do otherwise would be cowardly. For it would mean that Americans would rather build their bank accounts on the premise that we must always be at war, expending half our wealth on arms and the other half on sustaining allies. Common sense demands that we face the period of re-adjustment with confidence and gratification.

DENT SAYS STATE BUDGET COULD BE GIVEN KNIFE

HARRISBURG — INS — Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent today said a quarterly fiscal report on state revenues and expenses showed a half-million dollars could be trimmed from the budget.

The Westmoreland lawmaker did not detail what expenditures he thought could be cut by order of Gov. John S. Fine, but said he would discuss the matter with "proper officials."

Dent maintained the quarterly report issued by the governor's office contains the same type information called for by Senator J. Yosko (D) Northampton, in a resolution which the Senate refused to adopt in 1953.

Bristol Borough Republicans bought a station wagon and the Democrats heaved it right back at them. Some of the rubber may have been worn off, but it can probably be sold as an "executor's car."

Bucks County won first prize for flowers at the State Farm Show. Most of the geraniums have looked a little sick this winter, too.

A good pair of chains can make quite a tune, but Uncle Ezra thinks they lack the tingling melodic jingle of the sleigh bells on his 1901 cutter.

Lazy Louie says these are the real nights for friendly was-sail around the fireside, raking over such questions as why there are no Chinese football players.

A lot of meetings were postponed by the snow storm. These included all immediate sessions of the long-haired forecasters who had as-

Falls Zoning Rapped

TO THE EDITOR:

As a daily reader of your ever growing paper—which is getting better every day—and as a land owner of Falls Township, I think that for the good of other land owners, the proposed zoning ordinances of Falls Township should be voided until we can get real zoning ordinance, studied by a Pennsylvania registered engineer.

We need a zoning law that will please all of the owners, not just a few. Falls is an "up and coming" community, and zoning should be put up to a vote of all the people, not just the supervisors.

Citizen

TO THE EDITOR:

May I offer a bit of personal observations in connection with your column ("People, Places and Things") of January 4th. Mr. O'Boyle's suggestion for an indoor meeting place is logical and worthwhile to think about, but I feel the answer to juvenile problems cannot be ended with such a plan.

The only answer to their needs rests with their parents. Educate them by continuous articles concerning home life. It should be pointed to Moms and Dads that children are not animals to be left to their own diversions.

Parents worship only one God today, and that God seems to be "Money." Mothers go off to work leaving small children without the thing they most cherish—love—to provide them with a worn-out mother and the unwanted material things of life. Father is also too tired to be a true companion.

Parents should revert back to the "old-days" philosophy of providing their children with a home that is something more than a vacuum. They should sacrifice their

He was Sgt. Joseph J. Jacobs, of 655 Wolf avenue, Easton, who was quartermaster of the Troop headquarters. He was 48 years old.

Sgt. Jacobs enlisted in the State Highway Patrol on Nov. 20, 1928. He was promoted to corporal in September, 1942, and to the rank of sergeant and quartermaster in October, 1948.

His wife, Mrs. Jean E. Boyle Jacobs, survives. There are no children.

Native of China Scheduled For Sorosis 'Men's Night' Program

High spots in Chinese life—the betrothals and births, weddings and funerals, as well as every-day living—will be presented by Miss Madge Ashley, of Ridgewood, N.J., when she speaks on the occasion of "men's night", arranged by Langhorne Sorosis.

The lecture is to be given in Langhorne Library, January 19th. The title is "Chinese Family Life". Born and educated in Shanghai, China, Miss Ashley has a collection of Chinese costumes to display.

The story of her own upbringing in the Orient will show a unique mixture of the east and west.

From her Chinese gardeners she learned the lore and artistry that create a peculiar charm of Oriental gardens.

Her father, Major Charles Ashley, played a prominent part in the life of Shanghai. For 30 years he was chief engineer of the famous Shanghai Volunteer Fire Brigade, and in that official capacity met most of the notables who visited the port.

Miss Ashley was educated in the largest school for foreign children in Shanghai, where she graduated with top honors. As secretary to various American consuls in Shanghai, and later with an international oil company, she had opportunity to know important people from all over the world. The guest of the club speaks two Chinese dialects.

Prayer for Peace

Lord make me an instrument of Your Peace.

Where there is hatred, let me
sow love;

Where there is injury, pardon;

Where there is doubt, faith;

Where there is despair, hope;

Where there is darkness, light;

And where there is sickness,
joy.

O Divine Master, grant that I may not

So much seek to be consoled as to console;

To be understood as to understand;

To be loved as to love;

For it is in giving that we receive;

It is in pardoning that we are pardoned;

And it is in dying
That we are born to eternal life.

Questions for Working Mothers

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.
HERE are some essential considerations for the working mother.

1. Do the bare necessities for her family demand that she work? In answering this question, many will label as necessities what others call luxuries.

2. Will her child have ample protection morally and physically in her absence?

3. Can she provide him with the same amount of love and security as if she didn't work? All else being equal, we might assume the average mother could provide this better if she didn't work.

But an occasional mother might provide greater love if she worked than if she didn't. Assuming she has a good substitute in her absence, she might be a more lovely companion to her child during her free hours at home than if she were home full-time. Indeed, it would be better if some full-time mothers got away from home more often than they do. Anyway, the quality of her companionship is very important.

A Sense of Guilt

A few mothers, however, feel so strong a sense of guilt over working away from home that when they are at home, they only make it harder for the child during their absence, instead of rendering him more happy and self-sufficient.

To illustrate, the mother may lavish many material luxuries on this child, and may try to amuse him constantly while she is home. She may pamper him and do for him much that he could do for himself.

On the contrary, she does best if she helps him to grow more self-reliant, physically and emo-

Bristol Tops Bensalem, 77-65

The Wheels Roll On

Bristol High's rampaging basketballers, who appear to form the spokes of a wheel in this picture, rolled to their third straight Lower Bucks County League victory last night over Bensalem. Starting at seven o'clock and moving clockwise, they are: Frank Manzo, Russ Johnson, Phil Attardo, Harold Loud and Dick Crosby.

Warriors Dissolve Ten-Point Deficit, Bag 3rd Loop Win

Safely past a claustrophobic ambush in Cornwells Heights, Bristol High's Warriors today got down to the business of preparing an ambush of their own for powerful Pennsbury High, the team that forced them into a post-season playoff before surrendering the Lower Bucks County League title a year ago.

Pennsbury's Friday night visit looms as a large assignment for the Tribe, which suffered some fright before subduing Bensalem's stoked up Owls, 77-65, last night. Some of Bristol's glitter was rubbed off before it did the right thing in its third straight loop win and ninth success in ten games overall this winter.

Bensalem, on the other hand, looked forward to better things after getting its shotmaking machinery in its best working order of the season. It was a disappointing loss for the Owls and their second in three league starts, but the schedule promises to lighten a trifle from this point.

Down Ten Points

The Warriors had to overcome a ten-point first quarter deficit to score before a good throng at Cornwells Heights. The visitors displayed some early small-court jitters in getting only three field goals in the first eight minutes, while Bob Frantz, Bob Lake and Frank Harper shared nine for the Birds.

In the second quarter it was a different story. Just after the break, the Warriors outscored their hosts, 14-4, to catch up at 27 on the good shooting of Bobby Loud and Dick Crosby. Then Loud and Russ Johnson wrapped field goals around a successful free toss by Phil Attardo and Bristol surged out front to stay at 32-27.

Bensalem tailed off to a miserable six points as only Frantz and Bill Lomis landed field goals. Bristol's zone defense moved farther out, forcing the Bennies to launch hurried shots. They failed to drop and at intermission the game was nearer the form chart at 35-29 for the Tribe.

Johnson Warms Up

Johnson, whose 12 points represented one of his best scoring nights, chimed in with Loud and Crosby to give Bristol eight field goals in the third round. Bensalem, too, warmed up again, but not enough and trailed, 53-39, going into the stretch.

Attardo, who was held to four field goals by Bensalem's zone, plunked six of nine foul tries in the last quarter to bring his take to 20 points for the night. Loud, however, took honors as he rose to the head of the Big Three with 24 markers. It was a typical exhibition by the team's thoroughbred, who is at his best when the going is gummiest. Crosby came through for 17 markers.

Bensalem uncorked another 23-point burst in a wild-scoring last period. That helped Bob Frantz boost his totals to seven fielders and six aces for 20 points. Bob Lake, who had ten last quarter points, posted 19 to catch up with Crosby at 59 at the head of the league's individual scoring race. Harper had ten, all on field goals.

The Owls' best offensive effort of the year gave them a total of 25 ringers, only four fewer than Bristol. The Warriors padded the margin with 19 hits in 33 free tries. Bensalem's mark was 15 for 27. In overall play the Owls are now 4-3.

Bristol's surging jayvees were successful, 54-37, in the opener as Marty Konefal basketed 13 points to lead a total of ten Bristol scorers. Jenkins' ten topped the young Owls.

In a double-header basketball game at Madison Square Garden in New York, LaSalle beat Manhattan, 69 to 61, and Georgetown downed NYU, 75 to 67.

Crosby, Lake Set Fast Scoring Pace

Dick Crosby and Bob Lake, chief gunnery mates for Bristol and Bensalem respectively, were setting a torrid pace for Lower Bucks County League scorers after the first week of play in the scholastic circuit.

Crosby, who hooked up head-on with Lake last night in a tussle for the lead, scored 42 points in his first two games. Lake was averaging 20 points per try with 40 in his first two efforts. Bristol and Delhaas dominated the ranks of top ten scorers after the opening week. The Warriors also placed Phil Attardo, third with 33 points, and Harold Loud, the other member of the Big Three, with 25 markers. Delhaas had Larry Katz (33), Bob Morris (28) and Dick Smith (22) among the elite.

Two Morrisville sharpshooters, Frank Pesce and Arvie Powell, along with Bensalem's six-foot-five Bob Frantz fill out the top ten. Changes are expected this week to include Pennsbury's finest marksmen and perhaps a Southampton slogger or two when those clubs move deeper into their schedules.

Here's the complete scoring:

Eliminating Those Freckles

A GOOD FOUNDATION cosmetic helps camouflage freckles. If you're subject to them, it's wise to stay out of the sun.

By HELEN FOLLETT

THERE are two types of freckles — those that come in early childhood and stay around for years and those that are just summer visitors.

By taking care of the skin all the year round, one can often avoid freckles. The correct name for them is lentigo. Not that a name means anything to a girl who must bear with them and who hates them like poison.

A Bleaching Cream

Freckles vary in coloring, some are dark, some a faint yellow, some almost orange. Sunlight causes chemical changes that make them pop out. By keeping the skin surface oiled, it will be protected against the ravages of the sun. The thing to do, when freckles are present, is to apply a cream that contains bleaching elements. You will find these cosmetics in any cosmetic counter. One means of fighting freckles is to use a foundation cosmetic. It forms a barrier against strong sunlight and harsh winds. These cosmetics come in various forms, offering, see which one gives the best results. Be sure to follow directions to the letter.

Move Under Way In House To Cut Taxes At Once

WASHINGTON (INS)—A bipartisan move is under way in the House today to cut taxes before the congressional elections are held in November.

Rep. Hale BOGGS (D., La.), a member of the House Ways and Means Committee, said some Democrats probably will ask Congress to raise the allowance for dependents from $600 to $700.

As a counter-proposal, some GOP committee members reportedly are considering legislation for a flat 10 per cent reduction in income taxes, effective July 1.

Map Strategy

Congress, with an eye on the ballot box, is almost certain to approve either measure. As of now, however, both sides are mapping strategy in an apparent effort to gain political advantage.

Democrats speculated that maximum results could be obtained if the dependency allowance plan were offered on the House floor where the party's stamp would be unmistakable.

Republicans, however, undoubtedly would make their bid in the committee in an effort to take the steam out of the Democratic proposal.

Codify Tax Laws

This sparring coincides with the committee's formal consideration today of revision and codification

ELIZABETH WOODWARD SAYS:

Perk Yourself Up To Keep That Man

It's a little late to be looking to the locks on the stable door after the horse has been stolen. It's while the trusty steed is safely within that one should see to keeping him there.

Of course it's not often that a girl gets fair warning that her steady boy friend is about to fly the coop. Usually he just up and breaks the grim news that all is over.

But here's a girl who's heard rumors of the fate that's in store for her. I wonder if we can think of some way to deflect it. Here's what she writes:

"DEAR MISS WOODWARD: I'm crazy about him and he's going to break up with me but doesn't want to tell me because he thinks I'll cry. He told my girl friend and told her not to tell me. Of course, she did, but he doesn't know it. Is there anything I can do to prevent him from breaking up with me? "He still walks me home from the store where everyone loafs, but he doesn't say much to me. He kids around with my girl friend and after we leave he doesn't talk about anything much. On Sundays he would come over, but now he doesn't even call me up. I don't know of any other girl he would want to go with. Can you please help me?"

First off, let's consider that business of your boy friend telling your girl friend the big secret. He knows full well that you two girls tell each other everything. He counted on this tidbit getting to you lightning quick.

But frankly, I'm wondering if you got the whole story from your pal. How did he look when he was saying this brutal thing? What reason did he give for telling her, of all people? What ifs, ands and buts accompanied the blunt statement of fact? You don't mention any — and I'm wondering if your girl friend kept anything back.

It would be easy to tackle the what to do about it if there were some "if she doesn't" — or "if she does" — hitched at the end of "I'm going to break off with her." See if you can't find out.

Meantime, consider it fair warning that your relationship is in the doldrums and needs perking up. Less of the girl friend's company seems indicated, so you can be alone with him to put on your campaign. Don't leave all of the initiative to him — think up some of the things you can do together.

Show him that you think he's impressive, that he means a lot to you, that he's much more attractive than the other boys, that you get along so well together. Perk yourself up and make an effort to salvage this thing. You can let him slip away from you through sheer inertia. Give your friendship with him a pat on the back and a shot in the arm. If you act as though it were exciting to you — he might begin all over again to think the same thing.

Your Birthday by STELLA

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 13—against wasting it needlessly. Born today, you are not an easy person to understand. There are many contradictions in your temperament and you are not always what you appear to be on the surface. Your high ambition makes it difficult for you to cooperate with others. You prefer doing things your own way. Your emotional nature is mercurial. One day you are on the top of the world and feeling fine; the next, in the dumps and giving way to a burst of temperament. Learn to control this if you are to really achieve what you most desire out of life—material success. For temperament, actually, is but one short step away from temper!

Although you are basically sincere and loyal, you know how to be polite if you think it will bring you what you want. You are a good orator and have the gift of the written word, as well. Select one of the professions as your life work for that will give your originality and individuality a real chance to expand.

Fond of travel, you will cover considerable amounts of the earth's surface during your lifetime. You know how to make a good business deal. If there's a profit to be made in anything, you know how to make it. You're not the type to die poor! You have a great store of nervous energy, but must guard

"They'd rather let others do it for them," Lou charged, "and keep their healthy box office and bank accounts safe. This is what I call greenback-not red, white and blue thinking."

Hail Arrival of Ore As Signpost For New Era in Valley

Philadelphia area leaders, preparing a gala welcome for the first shipment of iron ore from Cerro Bolivar, Venezuela, on its arrival here next Tuesday, hailed the event as a "springboard for generated activity through the Port of Philadelphia."

The 10,000-ton shipment of ore will arrive on the steamship Tosca. The ship is due at the Chestnut Street Pier 4 South shortly after 11 A. M. It will be greeted by the Venezuelan Ambassador to the U. S., Dr. Cesar Gonzales, other members of the Venezuelan party from Washington as well as prominent national, State and local dignitaries.

The Tosca, a new Swedish vessel which left Puerto Ordaz last Saturday, will be escorted from the mouth of the Schuylkill River to Chestnut Street by a procession of tug boats, fire boats, police and coast guard patrols.

The ore will be unloaded at the Fairless Works of U. S. Steel Corp. in Morrisville on Wednesday morning.

Hail New Era

Edward C. McAuliffe, chairman of the Delaware River Port Authority, said the event will "signalize the beginning of the moving of a mountain of ore from the Orinoco to the Delaware."

"This far-reaching and dramatic event will mark the dawn of a period of industrial and port expansion in this area."

Director of Trade Harry Forleger referred to the event as a "springboard for accelerated activity through the Port of Philadelphia area facilities."

Spotlight On Valley

"The city's economic wealth is reflected directly on the trade being carried out through the port," Forleger said. "With the spotlight now focused on the Delaware River and the industry it has attracted through its natural resources, we are optimistic that this movement of ore will encourage more traffic through the port and more industry to settle along the river banks."

J. Harry LaBram, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia, said "it is impossible to overestimate the tremendous importance of the arrival of the Tosca. Industrially, this first shipment of iron ore is as significant as the arrival of William Penn himself in 1682."

"This cargo represents the first return of U. S. Steel's $100,000,000 investment in Venezuela, where the company spent the vast sum dredging the rivers, building roads, railroads and port facilities and opening the mine itself. It is also symbolic of the confidence of a great company in our Greater Philadelphia area."

"Signpost to Prosperity"

"The arrival of this vessel is literally a signpost to continuing prosperity in the 11-county region, and to thousands of new jobs for the workers who will come here in the future, drawn not only by the Fairless Works but the hundreds of other industries that have established themselves here."

Harry C. Schad, chairman of the Joint Executive Committee for the Improvement and Development of the Delaware River port area, stated that "this event, which undoubtedly is of international importance, should point up to everyone concerned the dire need for immediate deepening of the channel. The fact that this first ship is carrying only a partial load so that it can navigate to Morrisville vividly bears out the factor that the port will be slowed down unless dredged to 40 feet."

Not only do we need a deep channel in the upper river, he said, but the present channel below the Navy Yard should be dredged to its required 40 feet.

L'Town Nursery Makes Plans For Its Maintenance

Arrangements for additional facilities for the Levittown Nursery and Kindergarten Cooperative will be announced at a general meeting of the cooperative at 8:30 p. m. Monday at the William Penn Center.

According to Mrs. Arthur Danner, the new facilities have made it possible for the cooperative to accept additional children for registration. Applications should be made at the meeting Monday night, she said. Committee appointments will also be made at the meeting.

The maintenance committee of the cooperative, composed of fathers of enrolled pupils, is making plans to build all needed equipment for the nursery school. The school, which will open in February, will be run on a non-profit basis.

Anyone interested in donating equipment for the cooperative, or helping build it, Mrs. Donner said, should contact Mrs. Melvin Brenner, 28 Crimson King lane, Windsor 6-3885.

Edwards Elected Civilian Defense Leader For Area

Mark Edwards, Middletown township, is the new chairman of the Lower Bucks County Civil Defense Council. He was elected at a meeting Monday at the American Legion home, Langhorne.

The group decided to defer further appointments and elections until the next meeting, Monday, Feb. 8, as the weather kept many from attending last night.

It was announced that Middletown township supervisors have approved an insurance plan to cover civil defense employees in the township, according to Joseph Zalot, member of the council.

Zalot said the supervisors plan to make provision for the insurance plan in their 1954 budget. The insurance will cover about 50 ground observer corps members in the township, Zalot said.

He said that Langhorne, Langhorne Manor and Pennell boroughs will discuss the plan at their next meetings.

The council plans to attempt to make the next state-wide civil defense alert more effective in Lower Bucks County. Plans were discussed last night.

The council will strive for better use of the auxiliary police, who will be equipped with steel helmets and arm bands. They will also urge the State Police and the township and borough forces to give greater co-operation.

John Crowley, of the Kiwanis Club of Bucks County Lincoln Highway, attended the meeting and discussed the advantages of the proposed central police radio.

Zalot said the council is considering the setting up of its own short wave radio hookup in the future.

Canteen Opened For Teenagers In Falls Township

A canteen for all young people of junior high age in Falls township has been opened at Fallsington school.

The canteen is open and refreshments are served every Saturday from 8 until 11 p. m. The canteen is sponsored by the Falls Township Recreation Council.

"This is just the beginning of a number of canteens that will be started throughout the township as soon as various schools are completed, according to James P. Doehny, chairman of the council. "One will be started in the very near future in Oxford Valley School, Fairless Hills."

Other members of the council are Mrs. Carolyn Edwards, Fairless Hills; Hans VanSydoe, Levittown; Frank Krapf, Burgess Manor, and Roscoe DiRosa, Lower Falls. John McNerney is director of recreation.

Prize Winners

WINNING ENTRIES in the bakery division at the Pennsylvania Farm Show, currently underway in the agricultural building in Harrisburg, are admired by Pennsylvania State University Nutrition Specialist Marjorie Wormeck. The loaf of bread, a first prize winner, was made by Kathleen Taylor, of Langhorne. The second prize winning tea cakes were made by Sally Booth, Ivyland. Both girls are 4-H members.

Boy Scout Needs are Reviewed For Area at Meeting in Bristol

Plans to meet Lower Bucks County's growing population needs were discussed in detail last night at a meeting of the Pennsylvania Boy Scout district committee in the Bristol Municipal Building. George Wetherill, the chairman, presided.

Frank S. Weik, Bristol, advancement chairman, announced that a board of review will be held at Christ Church, Eddington, on Jan. 27.

Robert Goldsmith, Levittown, camping and activities chairman, outlined a full program of Scout camping for the coming months. Goldsmith reported that about 45 per cent of the boys in Pennsylvania District attended camps last year.

John Crowley, of the Kiwanis Club of Bucks County Lincoln Highway, attended the meeting and discussed the advantages of the proposed central police radio.

Zalot said the council is considering the setting up of its own short wave radio hookup in the future.

Thanks for Yule Work Goldsmith thanked area Scouts Dick Thorne, Troop 2, Bristol; Bill

Schilling, Explorer Post 69, Croydon; Terry Minister, Troop 12, Cornwells; George Wetherill, Jr., Troop 25, Bristol; Ralph Riccio, Troop 25, Bristol; John Sabol, Troop 7, Bristol; and Louis White, Troop 2, Explorers in charge of Scouts for the day, who assisted Horace P. Schmidt, Bristol. Schmidt was the Santa Claus for Bristol and Lower Bucks Chamber of Commerce.

Winfield S. Bantom, Landreth Manor, chairman of leadership training, reported on a recent visit to Doylestown, in regard to his activities committee.

William Lloyd, Crestmont, reported that Bucks County Scouts will receive $54,000 from the Community Chest in 1954. He explained that this sum is short of needs, due to the growth in the area. Detailed steps are being taken, he said, to acquaint everyone with the problem.

Harold Van Wert, chairman of organization and extension committee, appealed for more adults to work with Scouts in the area. Lloyd, Goldsmith, John S. Linscott, Jr., Tullytown school superintendent; ent; Mitchell Ancker and Archie Dalrymple, volunteered to serve with Van Wert to solve the pressing need for adult leaders.

Neighborhood Aids

Commissioner Jesse G. Williams reported the appointment of the following neighborhood commissioners: Aaron L. Roth, Harry N. Rohrbach, C. Kenneth Charles and Robert Kerr, all Levittown residents; William B. Talitsky, Bristol; Hugh D. Terhune, Philadelphia; Robert G. Berger, RD 3, Bristol; Harry Vogt, Bath Addition, and David Struble, Levittown.

Scout Executive Willard L. Ross praised area institutional Scout representatives, stressing their importance in the district committee's activities. Ross suggested the assignment of institutional representatives to committees, following personal conferences with each man.

President Judge Hiram H. Keller commented yesterday that out of the 88 criminal cases listed for disposition 35 defendants are charged with motor code violations, including drunken driving.

The drunken drivers who were heard before President Judge Keller and Judges Edward G. Blester and Edwin H. Satterthwaite are as follows:

Fines and Costs

Harry J. Campbell Jr., 330 Cleveland St., Bristol, fined $200 and the costs of prosecution. Bristol patrolman Gasper Favorsos arrested Campbell Oct. 23, 1953, after his car struck two parked cars on Otter street. The two parked cars were damaged $250 and $150 each.

William E. Hunter, 27 Cherry street, Willow Grove, fined $250 and the costs of prosecution. The defendant was arrested by Officer Thomas Stewart, of the Bristol Township Police force, Nov. 15.

John M. Kelso, 48, 3910 Dartmouth Place, Philadelphia, fined $200 and the costs of prosecution. Bristol Township Policeman George W. Shire made the arrest Nov. 16.

More Fines and Costs

James Wood, Morrisville High School history teacher, will speak to the group about local history and a barbershop quartet, the "Hungry Four" from Newtown, will sing.

The current exhibit of African culture will be on display for members to see. Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

With increased costs confronting the commissioners in every department of county government, an increase in the county tax rate of seven mills for 1953 is discussed. A decision probably will be announced after tentative budget figures for 1954 are reached.

Two years ago the salary board granted the Bucks county employees a 120 cost-of-living increase.

All employees, including clerks, deputies, janitors, stenographers and others are included in the $300 wage hike.

County Controller Krupp is preparing the final touches of the annual 1954 county housekeeping budget, which will be formally presented to the County Commissioners in February.

The Farm Show Commission estimated about 130,000 persons visited the exhibits in the 13-acre Exposition Hall Tuesday, or approximately 50,000 more than reported Monday.

The second day's show was climaxed Tuesday night with the crowning of nine agricultural queens and the eighth annual Rural Talent Festival, which featured a cast of 800 persons singing the praises of Pennsylvania farm life.

Set Jan. 18 for Pleas On Wheatley Retrial

DOYLESTOWN — After being continued through three terms of Argument Court, the case of a motion for a new trial for Thomas M.

Wheatley, Sr., 51, Oxford Valley, convicted by a September Quarter Sessions Court jury of shooting State Trooper George Caldarelli, 29, Westcoastville, and Walter Leonhauser, 17, Langhorne, will be argued Monday, Jan. 18.

Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite in cooperation with J. Leslie Kilcoyne, Bristol, defense counsel, fixed the date.

New Hope Council Discusses Safety For School Traffic

NEW HOPE — The New Hope Borough Council expressed the need for protection of students going to and from school.

Burgess Sylvester Maple, at a meeting at the borough hall, said: "I believe that one of the most important functions of any city or borough is the one that has to do with prevention of injury and possible accidental death to its children."

He added that since traffic has increased to a great degree in the last few years and motorists do not observe speed limits within the borough, danger to school children is greater than ever.

Maple suggested that either blinker lights be installed at Old York road and 202 and also at Rhodes lane warning motorists they are approaching a school or that an officer and a police car be hired to police the area.

A fulltime officer could also police the parking meters. The council voted to investigate these possibilities further and discussion will be continued at the next meeting.

Harry Markey, who was appointed to investigate the cost of putting a fire siren atop borough hall, said that the estimate for building a tower and installing a siren was from $425-$450 for complete job.

Lawyer Not Named

Whether Attorney Kilcoyne or Sidney Krawitz, Pike County Bar attorney, who also assisted Kilcoyne at the trial here in September, will present the arguments for a new trial is not known.

Wheatley was convicted of three bills of indictment following a jury trial in September.

Two of the bills, including six counts, assault and battery with intent to kill, aggravated assault and battery, assault and battery, wantonly pointing a firearm, and wantonly discharging a firearm and attempt with intent to kill, deal with the shooting of Trooper Caldarelli, Langhorne State Policeman, while he was investigating a bus-car accident May 30, 1953, on the Lincoln highway near Wheatley's home.

Third Involves Bystander A third bill involving two counts aggravated assault and battery and assault and battery deals with the shooting of Walter Leonhauser, 17, Langhorne, while he was directing traffic at the crash scene.

The motion for a new trial was continued through the October, November and December terms of Argument Court. Wheatley, who is on $30,000 bail, settled a $335,000 damage suit with Trooper Caldarelli in Common Pleas Court here last week.

New Industries Invite Opportunity, Speaker Declares

The growing industrial might of the Delaware Valley won the praise of David M. Walker, secretary of labor and industry of Pennsylvania, in a speech last night before the Bucks County Industrial Management Club at the Edgely fire house.

"The Delaware Valley is the fastest growing industrial section in the world," Walker said. "It has grown from a farming section to one that is known for its industrial might. It is expected to become the biggest industrial section in the state."

"Pennsylvania is now the largest industrial state in the union. We produce more oil in the state than all our Allies put together. We produce almost every known product that is produced in the nation."

"This great valley that you are living in has produced the greatest industrial miracle known to man. We here in Pennsylvania are blessed by an attitude of its government, which came into being a long time ago. A policy of leaving alone has made the foundation for this great industrial growth."

First to Recover

"This state was the last to feel the depression and it was the first to recover from the recession. It was because of the great industrial program in the state. This valley is proving to the world that Pennsylvania is a great industrial state and our way of life here in America is one of opportunity."

"A lot of people have a fear of another depression and believe one is on its way. They are the ones who work on the 'blood money'—that is, war work or defense, which ever you wish to call it. I feel that we are past that and we are starting to get back to some normal way of regular work for our industry."

Expects Jobless Rise

"I expect to see the unemployed go up two million more in the nation in the first six months of this year. It will then start to go down again as industry gets back to normal from the defense contracts and from new industry. There are new fields for industry all the time and they are opening new types of jobs."

"At the present our problem is one of economics. We have millions of women working in industry now. We have the problem of whether they should remain or not. They have contributed a lot to the growth of the industrial might of this state. I feel that they are needed and will be needed for a long time."

"Government and management stands at a critical point, we must find the middle of the road. Government must not take either side. Labor is the problem all industry must face. Labor and management is a team and teamwork always pays off. That is why there is not now, or will there be any need of fear of a depression. It is now become a buyer's market and not a seller's as it was. This is the way it should be."

Lends Nation

In closing Walker said: "Pennsylvania leads the nation in production and is truly the Keystone State. It is a state we all are proud of and one that other states look up to. We all should be proud that we are Pennsylvanians."

Julius Mehalek, chairman of the program committee, introduced the speaker.

Fred Herman announced that the club would visit the Eastern club on March 25. The national convention will be held in Atlanta, Ga., starting May 5, he said.

Herman called on Harry Verdier, a member of the national foreman's committee and also on the President's committee for the employment of the handicapped, to make presentations to all the past presidents of the club. The past presidents received a certificate of service and a life membership in the Bucks County Industrial Management Club.

The recipients were: First president of the Club, year 1949, Alfred Lewis; second president, year 1950, Russell Straub; third president, year 1951, J. Alfred Rigby, Jr.; fourth president, year 1952, Clyde Betts; fifth president, year 1953, William Lloyd.

The next meeting of the general membership will be on Tuesday at Pennsbury Inn.

BROWNIE TROOP MOTHERS

Mothers of members of Brownie Troop 65 of Levittown are invited to attend a get-together meeting at 8:30 p. m. Monday at the home of Mrs. N. Scott, 318 Stonybrook drive.
